UNPOPULARITY OF THE GOV. GENERAL.

During his recent visit West the Governor General has been made to feel the weight of public indignation. Profound contempt for his person prevails throughout the Province. Even those who have profited by his inanity and held the reins of power by virtue of his narrow prejudices, do not conceal their want of respect for the pompous and shallow individual who represents the Sovereign Power in Canada. Anything more than a cold, calm exhibition of disapproval would be repugnant to the principles of the men who make up the bulk of the Reform party. It demands the peculiar qualities of a Tory mob to assault and ill-treat a high dignitary. But Canadians do not simply exercise a right—they perform a duty in exhibiting by their coldness of demeanor to his Excellency when he appears in public, how deeply they feel the wrong he has done them in misusing the functions with which his Royal Mistress has entrusted him. At Sarnia, where once he was met by the entire community, and plaudits and honors poured forth in his behalf, at his second visit, no voice cried "God bless him." He is regarded as a weak, if not a false man. An enemy to pure institutions, to pure government, to honest and sound principles. Only the dependents of the Government could be found to go through the farce of according him a public reception; and only the curious would even consent to look on at the stupid and meaningless spectacle.—Hamilton Times.

JEWS IN AMERICA.—The Detroit Free Press gathers from a lecture recently delivered by Dr. Morris J. Franklin, in Providence, Rhode Island, some facts in relation to the Jews in the United States. The Jews in that country, the speaker said, now number two hundred thousand. In New York city alone there are forty thousand. The attention of the Jews in Europe is turned towards America on account of the persecution to which they are subjected in some countries on the continent, and a rapid increase of the numbers here may be expected by immigration. Many Jews in this country are occupying prominent and influential positions in politics and business. Messrs. Yulee and Benjamin of the United States Senate, and Messrs. Zolicofer, Oliver, Phillips and Hart of the National House of Representatives, are numbered among the children of Abraham. Instead of reading the scriptures in the Hebrew tongue, understood only as the Rabbi interprets it, many now use the English version. This class have introduced many reforms into their mode of worship—they now have their choirs, their organs, and their Sabbath schools. The Hebrew Christians, the converted Jews, in this country, number three or four hundred, and of this number nearly one hundred are engaged in preaching the gospel of Christianity or in a course of study preparatory to doing so.

A FREE PRESS.—The London Times, in reply to some of the orators in Parliament who deprecated the invectives of the English newspapers upon the French Emperor, and the interference of his agents in suppressing its circulation in France says:

It is our vocation and our very being to speak truly and freely about all public characters and affairs. If we cannot follow our vocation we cease to be altogether. We are a free press, which is about as distinct a thing from Continental Journalism as a living man is from a skeleton, or a forest from a timber yard.

If we have said what is not true, that is another question; but if our crime is that we have sometimes said that which may hurt the feelings of an Emperor then we beg to state our case. We existed either before Napoleon III., or Napoleon I. We are as much an institution of this country as they of theirs. We are precisely what we were, not only when Louis Napoleon lodged in St. James but when his uncle was a sub-officer of artillery. We are what we were before Mr. Bright or Lord John Russell were born. The era which gave France its Revolution, gave England its free press. That press has preserved its freedom by acting up to itself, and speaking the truth, to the best of its ability and judgement, of everything and everybody. No one can over-estimate its weight as the auxiliary and mouthpiece of a free legislature and open justice. But here it exists, one of the chief forces of the country, now also a heritage from our forefathers, to be bequeathed to our children.

STRAEM SUPERCEDED.—Dr. A. H. Ensmann, of Stettin, proposes, as substitute for steam carbonic acid in the solid form, and anticipates that his discovery (?) will lead to the navigation of the atmosphere with balloons. It is nearly a quarter of a century since Thillorier succeeded in producing solid carbonic acid, and the process of making it has since been much simplified by Faraday and Natterer. Faraday has stated that carbonic acid is a singular substance, on account of the high pressure which emanates from it in passing from the solid state: there is nothing equal to it in this respect. Its vapor is said to have an enormous pressure which increases with its temperature. At Zero it is equal to 23 atmospheres; at 16 degrees, to 29 atmospheres; at 32 degrees, to 38 atmospheres. The only difficulty was the production of the solid acid in sufficient quantities; but Natterer has succeeded in obtaining several pounds at once, and his apparatus, which will stand a pressure of 2,000 atmospheres, is now sold in Vienna for £10. We are not told the cost per pound of the acid, nor its economy as compared with steam.—The London Builder.

RAILWAY SPEED.—The following is said to be a correct calculation of the speed in a given time on the railways in different countries:

England, main speed 36, express 60, maximum 82; Germany, main speed, 36, express 58, maximum 76; United States, main speed 46, express 86, maximum 100; France, main speed 40, express 72, maximum 86. It should be borne in mind that in the United States there are lines of the length of 8,800 miles, the stations on which are at great distances from each other.—Old Countryman.

SHALL SALARIED OFFICERS BE MEMBERS OF THE ASSEMBLY?

As a general election will no doubt take place before the expiration of the current year,—and as it is probable that one or more of our salaried officials will offer themselves as candidates for seats in the Assembly,—it is very desirable that the electors should canvass thoroughly the wisdom of returning them. In England no objection is offered to a member of the House of Commons holding an office of emolument under the Crown, provided that he resigns his seat and is re-elected. In fact the law passed many years ago to secure the independence of Parliament, makes it necessary for them to resign, or by the mere fact of such acceptance of office their seat in the Commons becomes vacant. The object of this law was to prevent the Crown from making the representatives of the people subservient to its designs, which might entail the loss of the rights of the people by the encroachments of the prerogative. By this means those who hold distinguished offices in Great Britain, except members of the House of Lords, are actually placed in office by the voice of the people—the democratic element of the country,—and thereby an effectual check is created against monarchical bribery,—and greater purity, freedom and independence is secured in the Commons. The same principle has been adopted in all the British North American Provinces, in Australia, and other Colonies. It is even proposed to introduce a somewhat similar system into this Colony. But not exactly; inasmuch as in Great Britain and the Colonies the heads of departments chiefly form the Ministry or Executive Council. No Executive Council is proposed here; but simply that when a member accepts an office his place by that act becomes vacant. We have serious doubts as to the wisdom of allowing any one to hold a seat in the Assembly who holds an office of emolument whether great or small. A very great deal may be said on the question both pro and con as applied to this and other Colonies. In small Colonies like this, and particularly as we are situated, we believe it would be a dangerous experiment; and therefore where there is danger the wisest course is to avoid it entirely, if possible.

This we can do without curtailing in any way the efficiency of the Assembly,—as we have the material to construct an efficient and practical Assembly, without the aid of heads of departments. Hereafter when our population is largely increased,—when we have the whole control over the Casual and Territorial revenue of the Colony,—when we have an Executive Council by the advice and consent of which the Governor rules the country,—then it may be time to adopt the system. Besides, admitting officials may all be very honest and capable men,—they are not so closely identified with the country as to render it safe to the tax payers to trust them with a chance majority at their backs in the Assembly to vote the people's money, as they please. If all men were honest and would act honestly there would be no danger. But it is possible that heads of departments—who seek office in this country, not so much for the honor as the emoluments—might with a majority at their back vote away the people's money with fat salaries and large contracts to themselves; and as soon as they are enriched leave the country and leave the tax-payers to bear the burden they have imposed. This we take it, is a good reason why the electors should not return any such, till our officials and our population are identified with the soil for life. The Province of Prince Edward's Island—with a small and settled population—allowed heads of departments to sit in the Assembly; but now finds it to its advantage to retain the Executive Council as a popular check on the Governor; but advisable to exclude their officials from the Assembly. We believe that electing officials would work disastrously here. In England it may work well, for men of independent fortune aspire to office for the honor. In a young colony like this, we have few men of independent fortunes. But those who take office, take it for a living,—and hence, instead of being efficient officers, we might expect them to be mere politicians, working with might and main to retain their places, and support their families. A class of men known as politicians, who add nothing to the commonwealth, but eat continually out of the public crib, and are not very conscientious as to the quantity, we do not want to see in the colony. Hence we believe it necessary to impress on the electors the necessity of returning no one to the Assembly who holds a salaried position under the Government of Vancouver's Island. For sometime to come, at least, keep all such out of the Assembly,—and in the coming election, elect men who have identified themselves with the country by their wealth and industry.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The steamer Eliza Anderson arrived on Wednesday night from New Westminster. She brought down his Excellency Governor Douglas and suite, and 75 passengers, 40 of whom were miners on their way to California. Nearly all the miners were liberally supplied with gold dust. Ballou's Express brought down $6,000.

The up-river steamers will not go up to Port Douglas till the river rises.

A Chinaman was drowned lately near Yale.

Mr. Peabody and another man, name unknown, of the North-West Boundary Commission, are reported frozen to death in the mountains between Okanagan Lake and Chilivack river.

Snow had fallen, back of Hope, two feet deep.

Judge Begbie had arrived at Yale from Lytton.

A petition has been sent down from Yale for the appointment of a County Judge, an office not wanted at present, except for office-seekers,—provided a good magistrate's act was passed.

WASHINGTON AND OREGON ITEMS.

Gas works are in course of erection in Portland, Oregon.

Four hundred tons of hay have been cut for the U. S. Government, at Colville.

The Puget Sound Herald says that the ship Iconia, Capt. Eustace, arrived Sept. 30, at Port Townsend, direct from Japan, bringing a cargo of rice, tea, silks, and various articles of Japan manufacture. She will return shortly with a cargo of lumber. Arrangements have been made to keep her permanently in the Japan trade. As she is the first vessel that has made a voyage direct to Puget Sound from Japan, the Herald is eloquent and prophecies great results from the opening of this new branch of commerce.

The Pioneer and Democrat says Mr. A. D. Judson, of Lewis county, this season raised 3,127 bushels of wheat on ninety acres, and 1,200 bushels of oats on twenty-five acres; being an average of nearly five bushels of wheat and forty-eight bushels of oats per acre.

BOUND OVER.—On Wednesday Mr. D. B. Ring was bound over by Mr. Pemberton to keep the peace toward Mr. G. H. Carey for one year in his own recognizance of £500: Cause—having sent a challenge to fight a duel.

Reply to the Rev. W. F. Clark.
 FORT HOPE, Oct. 11, 1859.
 EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST—

Sir: In reference to a letter which appeared in your columns of the 7th inst, entitled the "State Church Again," I am sorry I have not access at present to the documents referred to, respecting "the grant of Clergy reserve in the district of Victoria." [The reserve, on July 30, 1858, by return to the House of Commons, was 2,188 acres.—Ed. COLONIST.] I have little doubt that some friend of the writer has already corrected the second clause of the above letter. I am sure the errors it contains would not have been made had any information been requested as to the origin of their appointment from Messrs. Gammage and Crickmer. If the list to which the writer alludes is headed, "appointments, &c., created by Her Majesty's Government," it is simply an error. [March 18, 1859, the "returns of all appointments, civil, military, and ecclesiastical, made or authorized by the Home Government," includes the Bishop and those gentlemen. The salaries of the clergymen are not chargeable to British Columbia, although their appointments were authorized by the Government. —Ed. COL.]

The Rev. Mr. Gammage is appointed to his duties by the Society for Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts; and the Rev. Mr. Crickmer by the Colonial Church and School Society. Perhaps Mr. Clark has authentic intelligence as to the future plans of the Bishop, but it may be as well to wait till his Lordship enunciates them publicly before he speaks with perfect confidence.

Voluntary Endowment.

Regarding Miss Burdett Coutts, munificence and the "State Church" cry, which partially informed persons have raised thereon, I beg to take this opportunity of stating the facts.

The sum given by Miss Coutts was £25,000, invested in England; of this £15,000 is invested for the endowment of the See, permanently; and £10,000 for the maintenance of two clergymen. The English interest of these sums is easily computed.

Not an Advocate for a Colonial Church.

I do not wish it to be inferred, sir, that I am writing in favor of "A State Church" in these Colonies. However strongly I am a believer in its claims on the Mother Country, and the security which it has proved to the preservation of true religion, my object at present is merely to point out errors in apud letter which I am well assured were not intentional. At the close of his letter Mr. Clark refers to the attachment of English Churchmen for England's Church. He is right—her authority with her sons is very different from that generally supposed to influence them. They believe her to rest on something much older than the State—that she honors the State, not the State her. She will apply to the voluntary system, when called on to do so, without fear, for where her doctrines and discipline have been faithfully taught and exemplified, she has not lacked, as is abundantly proved by her efforts for good at home and abroad.

Rather Dislikes Voluntarism.

I trust that the teachers and pastors of the Church of England, notwithstanding present success, may never have reason to endorse the avowed opinion of Angell James of Birmingham—and others who are qualified to speak with authority on the subject; the gist of which is this: "that the voluntary system is one of the most dependent and fettered positions for any man to be placed in; affording strong temptation to the covetous to make a gain of godliness; and damping others who would speak truth with boldness, while every powerful man forbids them." I am, sir, your ob'dt serv't,

A. D. PRINGLE.

[If British Columbia does not support a "State Church" as well as this Colony, we cannot understand the following: Gov. Douglas' dispatch, Dec. 14, 1858, says—"I propose building a small church and parsonage, a court house and gaol immediately, at Langley, and to defray the expense out of the proceeds arising from the sale of town lands there."—Ed. BRITISH COLONIST.]

SIGNS OF THE "TIMES."

BY WHIZ-Z-Z!

If editors, in their blind folly
 Will torture candor into treason,
 And that in verse—how melancholy
 To do so, without rhyme or reason!
 'Twere surely more prudent—better far
 Than to enter lists where hope's forlorn,
 And wage a Noddy-torial war—
 To lay down arms and own the corn.
 For what's the use of vainly trying
 To hide what everybody knows?
 A startling fact, beyond denying
 "That the Times can't write in verse or prose"!!!

RING VS. CAREY.

VICTORIA, Oct. 13th 1859.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:

Sir:—The following facts will, I am sure, relieve Mr. Ring from the imputation conveyed in your last paper.

The public insult of which Mr. Ring complains, was given by Mr. Carey on Thursday last. He refused to retract, apologize or be bound by a Court of Honor. He had the whole interval between Thursday and Saturday morning to yield to Mr. Ring's demand.

At one o'clock on Saturday I called upon him as Mr. Ring's friend and delivered the letter which he has published, wherein Mr. Ring plainly informs him that in the event of his then declining his challenge he should denounce him in the most public way—as he has done. Mr. Carey refused all Mr. Ring's demands, and on the Sunday morning following started for British Columbia at half past 8 o'clock, that is, not till twenty hours after he was fully aware of Mr. Ring's intention. The letter was then published by my advice without further delay.

I am, Sir, yours obediently,
 JOHN G. BARNSTON.

LAUNCH.—The new steamer now building on the opposite side of the harbor will be launched on Sunday next, the tide only suiting on that day. She belongs to Mr. Moore. Her engines have not yet arrived from San Francisco. She will be the fourth steamer launched here within fourteen months.

Sir Jamsetje Jejeeboy, a wealthy Parsee, (Indian,) who was at the head of the merchants of India, died at Bombay, April 14, aged 76. He was created a baronet by the British government. During his career, his donations to public objects amounted to about $1,500,000.

GOVERNMENT has been defined as a compact by which a people surrender a portion of their liberties to preserve the rest. All governments may therefore be regarded in the light of necessary evils.
